Alexandria Gazette.

FRIDAY EVENING NOV. 8, 1895;

[COMMUNICATED.

ADMIRES FROM A DISTANCE. A young gentleman of Alexandria who became ensmored of a young lady of that city, and not baving the pleasure of her acquaintance, gives vent to his pent up feelings in the following lines:

The' I never have spoken to thee.
Or clasped thy tiny hand in mine,
Ye: the pure t tendrils of my heart Forever with thy spirit twine.

I have gazed upon my smiling face
And heard the loved tones of thy voice,
Until my silent heart was gladdened, Yea, my enraptured soul rejoiced.

I have seen thy head reclined, Near the altar's sacred shrine. In the spirit of communion, With solemnity so divine.

I have watched thy graceful movements, Like a bird on summer breeze Fluttering thre' the garden flowers, Like the butterfly or the busy bees

I have heard thy laughing voice, And it fell like music's tone, Till its sound did so enchant me That I thought myself slone.

Thy sweet laugh rang out divine, Breathed by nature's melodious art, And it fell upon my spirit As the sunshine on the heart.

Thou mind'st me of the humming bird As it bounds from flower to flower, Or the little sweet canary In some lovely, lonely bower.

Tho' I've never dared to love thee, Only as I'd love a saint, Yet I gaze with rapture on thee
And in my thoughts thine image paint.

As a bouquet I could love thee, Or as a mother loves her prattling boy,
This humble favor—oh don't deny me,
It fills my heart with sweetest joy.

Had I thine image pictured well I'd press it fondly to my heart,
Above all gems I'd dearly prize it,
And it never could from me depart.

Yet I'll deem thy name a blessing, Yea, an almost holy thing— For to mention gives a pleasure Which no other one can bring. Still I'll cherish thy sweet charms

Which I cannot from my mind efface, In silence and in solitude—
A name so dear as thine, Miss Grace.

The CENTURY FOR THE COMING YEAR

The Century Magazine celebrates its quartercentennial in its November issue. In honor of the occasion it dons a new dress of type and appears in a new and artistic cover. The and appears in a new and stristic cover. The programme for the coming year contains a number of interesting features. Mrs. Humphry Ward's new novel, "Sir George Tressady," has been secured for its pages. The story will be the leading feature in fiction for the coming twelve months, other and shorter novels being contributed by W. D. Howells, F. Hopkins Smith, Mary Hallock Foote, and Amelia E. Barr. There will also be contributions from Mark Twain and Ruyyard Kipling; a series of articles on the great yard Kipling; a series of articles on the grea naval engagements of Nelson, by Captain Alfred T. Mahan; three articles on Rome, contribted by Marion Crawford, and superbly illustrated; a series of articles by George Kennan, on the Mountains and the Mountaineers of the Eastern Caucasus; articles by Henry M. Stanley and the late E. J. Glave on Africa; M. Stanley and the late E. J. Glave on Africa; a series of papers on "The Administration of the Cities of the United States," by Dr. Albert Shaw. The Century will also contain during the year a great number of papers on art subjects, richly illustrated. Prof. Sloane's "Life of Napoleon," with its wealth of illustration, will reach its most interesting part. In order that new subscribers may obtain the whole of this monumental work, the publishers have made a rate of $5, for which one can have a year's subscription from November '25. and year's subscription from November '25, and all of the numbers for the past twelve months, from the beginning of Prof. Sleane's history.

St. Nicholas in 1896.

For almost a quarter of a century St. Nicholas Magazine has been bearing its welcome messamagazine has been bearing its welcome messa-ges each month to the young people of the land. It has been fortunate in securing con-tributions for its pages from leading writers and artists, while it has given to its readers many works that have become imperishable classics in juvenile literature. The maga-zine is a help to those that have the care and up-bringing of children, in that it is full of orightness and interest and tends to cultivate brightness and interest and tends to cultivate high aspirations, without being "preachy" and presy. During the coming year the leading feature will be a series of letters written to young people from Sames by Robert Louis Stevenson Rudyard Kipling will write for it, and James Whitcomb Riley will contribute a poem to the Christmas number "The Swordmaker's Son" is a story of boy-life in Palestine at the time of the founding of Christianity. It is written by W. O. Stoddard. "The Prize Cup" is one of J. T. Trowbridge's best stories. Albert Stearns has written another story, Jin "Sinbad, Smith & Co." ten another story, In "Sinbad, Smith & Co.," he has again gone to "The Arabian Nights" for inspiration. These are but a few of the features. During the coming year $1,000 will be given away in prizes.
